Guardians of Liberty Praise Villa. the Notorious Mexican Bandit.

Commend Him and His Soldiers For Assaults on the Church.

Brutal Acts Against Priests and Nuns Commended by Society.

EXCHANGE FRIENDLY GREETINGS

Another instance of the ideals and aims of the Guardians of Liberty, one of the numerous organizations engaged in the profitable business of inciting the ignorant and low-minded to a bitter and superstitious hatred against the Catholic church, is furnished in October 22 issue of the Liberator, an anti-Cath-olic paper published in Magnolia, Ark. In that issue there is to be found a copy of a letter sent by Alamo Court No. 1 of the Guardians of Liberty to Gen. Francisco Villa, the notorious Mexican bandit, praising him for the brutal acts of himself and his soldiery in destroying churches, killing and driving forth priests, and assaulting Sisters in his war on the church in Mexico. letter in part reads as follows:

Court No. 1, Guardians of Liberty of Texas, a patriotic organization of American citizens, with courts throughout the entire United States, which has for its purpose the maintaining of the United States constitution and the com-plete separation of Church and State, desires to express to you and other patriotic Mexicans our hearty approval of your actions and the great good and service you have and are rendering your people and the country. We would especially commend your actions in ridding your country of the baesst of human vultures, the Catholic priesthood. Whenever women are forced to secretly confess to a man who has never married and knows nothing of the sacredness of woman or of home, it is but natural for immorality to exist, and until this practice is stopped it is impossible to raise up a liberty loving, intelligent, patriotic, moral generation. Again assuring you of our appreciation of your invaluable worth to your country, and trusting that you may continue your good work until the people of your country are freed indeed from the root of the trouble, the Roman Catholic church, in the language of the patriot, we would exclaim, 'Viva Mexico by Villa.'"

In reply Villa expresses "his sincere thanks and very great pleasure "the honorable society," wishes that "this honorable society continue progressing every day for the welfare of humanity and of civilization." Both Villa and "the honorable society" are in good company. They found companions of a like mind; they are proving anew the old adage that "birds of a feather flock together." The foul and putrid imaginings in which the socalled 'patriotic' organization delights are vell known to us by this time. Of Villa, despite the pathetic efforts of the daily press to shield his true character and the apparent indifference of the Government at Washington in regard to his savage actions, we also know enough to reveal the characteristics of the man who is now in control of affairs to a great degree in the Southern re as the Outlook, while sympathizing with the revolutionary party in acknowledged the gross immorality of the man charge of that revolution and of ma y of his followers. Villa himself is said to have a mistress in almost every town which receives is this a mere private matter, for the course the revolutionary army across the stricken country has been marked by a series of revolting orgies perpetrated most frequently in the churches. The most bestial practices have been committed in the most sacred places; and the brutal bandits have not even respected the persons of the Sisters, but have treated them in a manner which ncy forbids repeating. Such are men who are now running wild Mexico; such are the friends of men who are now conducting It is a very sad co entary indeed upon our so-called

One was fighting with the Prussian army and the other with the Belgians. Recently he received word that one of them had been killed in battle. He has been worrying over the war and it is feared the news of the death of his brother impaired his mind. He became violent Thursday, and that night refused to admit the officers to his home. Friday morning another priest persuaded him to submit and he was brought to Owensboro. It was arranged to send him to a sanatorium in St. Louis, and he was taken there that night.

COVINGTON.

Division 1, Ladies' Auxiliary, of Covington, has re-elected Mrs. Mary Monahan as County President for the ensuing two years, giving her a handsome majority. Miss Lula Mur-phy, the State President, was present and installed Mrs. Monahan. In a happy address she complimented the auxiliary upon its choice of one who by temperament and engaging personality was especially qualified to place the Covington division at the forefront of Kentucky Hibernianism. Several new members were initiated at this meeting, the

BENEFIT FOR HOSPITAL.

Lady and gentlemen friends have made extensive preparation for the euchre party and other entertainment to be given for the benefit of that institution next Wednesday and Thursday at the hospital, Twelfth and Magnolia. Games will be played both afternoon and evening, and each day there will be a light but excellent luncheon. Among the awards will be Thanksgiving turkeys and a number of tons coal, and in addition many beautiful articles remaining over from the recent bazar will be given away. Those who would help a worthy charity and spend a pleasant time will find here the real opportunity.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

Next Friday night the Committee of the Catholic Knights of America will hold its regular meeting in St. John's Hall, Clay and Walnut, and President Ben Kruse urges that all branches be fully represented. The season for activity has arrived and the winter proof gramme should be outlined at this meeting. Everywhere the Catholic Knights are making splendid prog-ress, and it is safe to say the reports to be read will be an agreeable surprise.

WITH NUPTIAL MASS.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Masters, o Bardstown Junction, last week announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss May Alzora, to John D. Cooper. Their marriage will be solemnized with a nuptial mass at the Church of Our Holy Redeemen on the morning of November 26. The contracting parties are widely known and popular and the wedding will be one of the social events of the FERRATA.

Was Successful in Negotiations in Belgium, Switzerland and France.

AN OUTLINE OF HIS CAREER

With the accession of a new Pope with expectant interest the first acts of the Pontiff. Of these acts the ones which excites perhaps most of a Cardinal Secretary of State. Each Pope appoints his own Cardinal Secretary of State, for that official is the Pope's right hand in being a man of affairs, should also be like-minded with him whose chief instrument he is to be. Seldom perhaps has this rule of common sense been more clearly exemplified than in the appointment of Pope Benedict XV. of Cardinal Ferrata.

Born at Gradoli, near Viterbo, in 1847, Domenico Ferrata came of a family of much consideration in a neighborhood which had furnished many members to the service of the church. One of his brothers died an Augustinian monk. Reading maketh a full man and talking a ready man, and Dottore Ferrata's years of study and teaching had completed the formation of a mind singularly able and supple. So he was called upon to exercise his abilities in ecclesi-astical diplomacy. After a short time at the Secretariate traordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs he was in the summer of 1879 appointed auditor of the Apostolic Nunciature at Paris, where he had the good fortune to serve under a Nuncio whose ability is still a tradition, the Polish prelate, Mgr. Czaski, afterward Cardinal. Here Ferrata showed himself a quick learner in the delicate intricacies of diplomacy. After these years of training the time had come for Mgr. Ferrata to be intrusted with work of the high-est importance. In April, 1883, he was recalled to Rome as Under Membership Committee reporting Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs, Secretary of the Congregation of that they will have twenty or more applications at the meeting on fronted with matters of extreme difficulty. The first was concerned with Switzerland, the Government of adopted a sort of Kulturkampf and broken off all relations with the Holy See. He was in-Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital trusted with the arduous mission of appeasing the Government and closing the quarrel. On his first visit to Berne he set himself to gain its good will and in this he was, by a happy combination of affability and plain speaking, so successful that he brought the Government to see the desirability of a reapproachment with the Holy See.

In the following year he again went to Berne, but this time with the official status of Apostolic Delegate. The matter in hand concerned the diocese of Basle, which included cantons where feelings against the Holy See was bitterest and in one of which the ecclesiastical organizations had to be arranged and established. Firm in his adherence to essential ecclesiastical principle, the Delegate Apostolic showed himself at the same time able to understand and allow for minor differences. Thus in the canton last mentioned the Government of Berne refused to allow a diocese to be erected. But Mgr. Ferrata prevailed upon it to accept an administrator apostolic having piscopal authority. Rome was the result, which was ultimately ratified by a convention signed at Berne in March, 1888. This signal success in so difficult a matter was marked by lively appreciation on the part of Pope Leo XIII., who appointed Mgr. Ferrata President of the Academy of Noble Ecclesiastics in Rome (the nursery of the church's diplomats) and canon of Sente Maria canon of Santa Maria Maggiore. Through his tact and ability dinal Ferrata established friendly dinal Ferrata established friendly relations between the Holy See and Belgium, and also did excellent work as Nuncio Apostolic to the French capital, a post which he held for five difficult years and by his moderation and tact kept the storm that was threatening and blackening

In 1896 he was created a Cardinal, and returning to Rome he gave himself up to the silent but important and far reaching work of the Roman congregations. Besides the Congregation of Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs, with which he had een so long connected, and the ommission for the codification of the canon law instituted by Pius X., the canon law instituted by Pius X., Cardinal Ferrata was successfully Prefect of the congregation of indulgences, of rites, of Bishops and regulars, of the sacraments, and on the death of Cardinal Rampolla he became Secretary of the Holy Office. Such in outline is the career of the great prelate who has now been called to the side of the head of the Catholic church as Cardinal Secretary of State.

In the Tenth district Langley, the Republican, was re-elected by 3,800, and Powers in the Eleventh by 6,000 over the Fusion nominee. Thus Kentucky still maintains its same representation in Congress, nine Democrats and two Republicans, while the two Senators are Democrats.

The success of the Democrats here especially wonderful when it is taken into consideration that Republicans had in ex-Gov. VALID MARRIAGES.

Marriages between Catholics riage question amounts to declaring that any Catholic who marries before a Justice of the Peace makes his exit from the Catholic com-munion—dishonorably discharged. There is no conflict with the laws Justice of the Peace are validly married under the statutes. In beming a citizen of the United States coming a citizen of the United States man yields up certain rights and accepts certain duties. In becoming a member of the Catholic church a man also yields up certain rights—such as marrying before a Justice—and accepts certain obligations—such as that of the Easter duty. In this there is no encroachment of the liberty of the citizen, because one's membership in a church is wholly a matter of free will. And the sanctions are moral sanctions.

A STORY OF FATHER BURKE.

Once when doing so after a long church service in Dublin he produced his breviary and was soon deep in its contents. A well known evangelical, sitting near him, took upon himself to comment upon the act. "The Lord tells us." he said, "that when we pray we should not be as the hypocrites, who love to pray in public and at the corners of the streets, that they may be seen by men. Now," he added, "when I pray I enter into my closet, and when I have shut the door I pray in secret."

Without looking up, Father Burke replied aloud, "Yes; and you get on the top of an omnibus and length of the was educated at Vineland. He was educated at Vineland. once when doing so after a long sented him with a purse

The father of this first Sister of Mercy in the United States was Luke Tiernan, 10, 1839. He was one of the most prominent and successful Irish over from England the first locomo native of County Meath, Ireland chase the property on which it was built. As President of the Baltimore with Father Moranville, pastor of St. Patrick's church, in establishing the first free parochial school in Baltimore. He was also one of the committee of seven citizens ap-pointed to provide for the defense of the city at the time of the bombardment of Fort McHenry during the war of 1812. He died at the ripe age of seventy-two, leaving an immense estate to his widow, his two sons and two daughters, one of whom, Eliza Jane Tiernan, took her large share with her into the community of the Sisters of Mercy in Pittsburgh, to which city she removed after the death of her mother in 1841. The Sisters of Charity from Emmitsburg under Sister Isidore Fisher, who later, on April 9, 1846, entered the convent of the Sisters of Mercy, had already been intro O'Reilly in 1835, and were in charge of the orphan asylum and St. Paul's parochial school, and in 1843 Bishop O'Connor, on his way to Rome, secured in Ireland a band of Sisters of Mercy under Mother Mary Frances Warde, and they reached Pittsburgh on December 21 of the same year, taking possession of a four-story brick building on Penn street as their first convent. Before the Bishop left for Europe Miss Tiernan had consulted him ordered singly or in lots from the with a view of going to Ireland to office of the Secretary, 43-44 Unimake her novitiate there at the versity building, Milwaukee, Wis. mother house of the Sisters of They are selected from a stock of Mercy, but as her family and friends interposed strenuous objections he "Don't be in too great a hurry; we may have Sisters of Mercy here she succeeded in reconciling her relatives to the step she had so long relatives to the step she had so long contemplated, and she entered the convent as the first American postulant, February 2, 1844. "Why Socialism Is Opposed to the

The Catholic layman who is truly worthy of the name is one who knows and confesses and practically recognizes that true nobility of character is justice crystallized, and that success is duty done effectively and valiantly. Such a man habituates himself to untiring fidelity to obscure duties no less than to duties that are conspicuous. he is calm and bright and sent possessed amid the heat and dust and turmoil of every-day life. He is and turmoil of every-day life. the Almighty. He can not find it in his heart to harbor malice, resentment or vindictiveness. Though envious calumny may sometimes tip the tongues and pens of others in his regard, he does not retaliate in kind. In his living he is upright and unsullied. In his thinking he is accurate, careful and sufficiently independent to let people know that he has a mind and will of his own. If he has knowledge he is willing to impart it to others. If he has wealth, he is truly charitable to the poor for God's sake—not to blazon his name upon his contributions nor with smug religiosity and self-satisfaction to proclaim to the gaping multitudes that earth is heaven. If he is a man in public life he is dominated by an abiding and never-failing sense of fairness, honor and high-mindedness

EMPEROR WILLIAM.

The character of Emperor William is not a mystery but an open book The principal characteristic that binds the people of Germany to their leader and ruler is his sin-cerity. When he tells his people anything concerning the Government they accept it with implicit confidence, a confidence which he seems to have never betrayed. When selfgovernment takes the place of monarchial government no ruler will be more heartily and unanimously elected to preside at the head of the Government than the Emperor of Germany. It is well for Americans to know and remember these facts, for in case men prominently con nected with the European conflict speak the sincerity and trustworthi ness should be taken into considera tion. This information does not come from a German source, from a neutral American viewpoint It is given by an American who earnestly favors equal justice toward all nationalities.
